EMPOWER YOUR FUTURE

Established in 1827, the University of Toronto is one of the oldest and most internationally recognized universities in North America. With an annual enrollment of over 99,000 students, including more than 29,000 international students, the University of Toronto is Canada's largest educational institution and continues to be the nation's leader in higher learning and research.

The University of Toronto's St. George campus, located in the heart of downtown Toronto, is the largest and most urban among its three campuses. Since 1827, the historic St. George campus has developed a tradition of academic excellence and achievement and has driven the University's aspiration to continue graduating leaders who will make significant contributions to the world.

U of T is a world-renowned university in a celebrated city where knowledge meets achievement, history meets the future, and ambition meets inspiration. U of T has been rated top in Canada and 21st in the world by the 2024 Times Higher Education World University Rankings.

INTERNATIONAL FOUNDATION PROGRAM

The International Foundation Program (IFP) is a unique offering that combines conditional acceptance to the University of Toronto with intensive English language and skills development instruction combined with for-credit courses. The IFP is available to academically qualified international students whose English proficiency scores do not meet the University of Toronto's direct entrance requirements. Successful completion of the IFP guarantees admission to the Faculty of Arts & Science, the John H. Daniels Faculty of Architecture, Landscape & Design, or the Faculty of Music.

IFP ACADEMICS

Designed for international students who need to improve their language proficiency, adapt to academic conventions, and raise their awareness of cultural differences before undertaking the rigours of a full-time undergraduate degree, the IFP develops skills in genuine higher education contexts.

Detailed course descriptions are available at InternationalPrograms.utoronto.ca/IFP

Conditional Acceptance

Applicants that are admitted into the International Foundation Program are University of Toronto undergraduate students. However, the students must successfully complete all courses, including the degree credit-course; the discipline-specific course; and the language and academic development courses in order to meet the conditions of their offer. Throughout the IFP, continual assessment raises student awareness of their academic standing and provides opportunities to improve their performance. Those who do not successfully complete all courses will have their admission offers to the university withdrawn.

Degree Course - IFP100Y/H Themes in World History

This course surveys the development of human societies from their origins to the present using examples from across the world. Topics may include the environment; cultural development and interaction; the creation and nature of belief systems; political, economic and social structures; gender relations; and the relationship between global patterns and local developments.

IFP100Y/H Themes in World History is a first-year course at the University of Toronto designed for IFP students. Upon successful completion, this course counts as a credit within the Faculty of Arts & Science, the John H. Daniels Faculty of Architecture, Landscape and Design, or the Faculty of Music.

Discipline-specific Courses

IFP students take discipline-specific courses which correspond to their admission stream. These courses, taught by instructors from specific departments, introduce the necessary vocabulary, assignment types, and evaluations used in their area of study.

Language & Academic Skills Development Courses

Using readings, lecture content, assignments, and requirements from both their degree course and sources relevant to the topic areas, students learn how to interpret information presented through a variety of written and oral mediums; construct arguments supported by evidence; and present ideas in small group and tutorial environments.

Student Life

There's more to the university experience than just academics. The campus experience is one full of opportunities, connections, and friendships. Students come together to build their own communities and help each other thrive.

IFP students live in the safe and secure New College residence on the University of Toronto's downtown St. George campus, where they will be side-by-side with first and upper-year students.

New College encourages an incredibly active community that is always seeking new and innovative opportunities to reach out and get students involved. Students will be fully immersed in the university community, have full access to university resources, get involved, and gain valuable teamwork and leadership skills while living in downtown Toronto.
