Build a degree around your interests and strengths.

At the University of Melbourne, you'll be empowered to direct your own learning experience. Our curriculum enables you to explore your passions and strengths, while giving you the flexibility to specialise when you're ready.

Aligned with leading universities across Europe, North America and Asia, our course structure encourages you to develop both well-rounded skills and deep expertise in your chosen discipline. You'll graduate with a globally recognised qualification as well as the knowledge and experience to make an impact in your career, wherever that may take you.

How it works

You start with a three-year bachelors degree. Once completed, you can enter the workforce with a broad knowledge base and career-ready skills. Or, gain specialised knowledge via a graduate degree or in graduate research.

Choose your undergraduate degree

We offer seven bachelors degrees in the Melbourne curriculum – arts, biomedicine, commerce, design, fine arts, music, and science – covering over 100 different study areas. We also offer specialist degrees in agriculture and oral health, where everything you study is structured for your chosen discipline.

Choose a major

Making up one third of your subjects, a major is the subject area you'll focus on during your undergraduate degree. Each degree has a different set of majors. For example, if you're studying a Bachelor of Design, you might choose to major in Architecture or Construction. Or in a Bachelor of Commerce, you might pick a major in Management or Finance. In some of our courses, you can choose to do a double major.

In your first year, you can focus on your major straight away or explore other subjects before deciding on what major you want to pursue.

Discovery subjects

Designed to support your introduction to University, discovery subjects are core first-year subjects within each undergraduate degree that offer varying experiences and delivery modes. These subjects connect your studies to outside the classroom, showing you how your degree can address real-world problems.

Branch out your studies

Breadth study

In addition to the subjects offered in your core area of study, you can also take subjects from other disciplines – like marketing, genetics or philosophy – or test out subjects you're thinking of pursuing in a graduate degree – like law, development studies or urban design.

Breadth allows you to explore beyond your study area to build an interdisciplinary skillset, so you'll be capable of critical thinking, problem-solving, communication and leadership in a vastly broad range of professions.

Concurrent diplomas

You have the option to study an extra qualification alongside your degree. If you're a passionate musician, programmer or mathematician, or have an interest in languages, you can enrol in one of four concurrent diplomas alongside your bachelors degree - computing, languages, mathematical sciences or music.

For some degrees, an indicative fee range is shown due to the wide range of variables that may affect the course structure, and subjects taken. Actual tuition fees payable may vary and will be the sum of the fees for all subjects in which you enrol.

6 International students: Recipients of the Bachelor of Commerce Global Scholarship may be admitted with an entry score that is lower than that published here. This scholarship is available only to international students. For more details, see: scholarships.unimelb.edu.au/bcom-global-scholarship
